It is an old saying that fools are known chiefly by their efforts to look wise.

Tomorrow the legislature of Texas undoubtedly will re-elect Senator Bailey. There is lots of opposition to him, but it has no leader.

Today formally opens the war between the old New Mexico gang of grafters and the advocates of good government headed by Governor Hagerman.

"Alderman Wisely, of Roswell wants paved streets, which goes to refute the oft repeated axiom that there is nothing in a name.—Albuquerque Journal.

The man who strives to create public sentiment is wasting his time. The most that we can do is to unite the sentiment that already exists, keep the soil stirred and watch it grow.

"Differences of opinion regarding the Brownsville riots have caused Republican members of the Senate to explain that President Roosevelt is a fine man, but for once he's wrong; and the Democrats insist that while the President is a most unsafe and exasperating official, for once he's right.—Kansas City Times.

We understand one citizen of Roswell is in Santa Fe favoring county division, and one or two others here and in the vicinity are advocating it. They have a right to be, being employed for that purpose but their views should not count like those of other citizens, who view the matter purely on its merits.

Hon. J. F. Hinkle in an interview in the Santa Fe New Mexican last Thursday said, "The people of the Pecos Valley do not want any county division." This is right, and in our opinion expresses the views of nine-tenths of the citizens of the Valley from Roswell to Carlsbad, inclusive. In justice to Mr. Hinkle we wish to say also that he has been very much opposed to county division in any form at this time. Some have circulated reports that he was in favor of a county at Hagerman, because of his interests there. This is not a fact and he is just as much as opposed to the project as the other and very much against both.

SAME IN NEW MEXICO.

From Phoenix (A. T.) Gazette.
In the absence of something better, local laws and city ordinances against gambling do very well, but what is needed to entirely rid Arizona of the practice and place her right in the eyes of the world is a strong territorial law absolutely prohibiting all forms of gambling.

No argument has ever been advanced that from a moral, business or any other point of view could be construed as favorable to gambling, and wherever the voters have been offered an opportunity to express an opinion they have invariably declared themselves in favor of closing the games.

In the light of these facts it is highly improbable that the coming session of the legislature will ignore this highly important matter. Indeed, the belief is growing that the law makers will not wait for congress to pass the Littlefield or any other anti-gambling measure, but will forestall any such action by adopting a satisfactory territorial statute eradicating the evil.

"PIGS IS PIGS."

The Record today, as a "Aller," publishes a criticism of a criticism. The original criticism probably was based on either a derangement of the liver or deficiency of understanding, and the counter criticism no doubt is due to hypersensitiveness which unduly magnifies the pin-pricks of "Scotch Reviewers." The "Parson" is really inclined to sympathize with the "Tenderfoot" in lacking the culture to appreciate the finer musical expressions of entrancing emotion, which begin with the simple melodies of the cradle, passing from joy, mirth, love, ambition, hope, through sorrow, rage, jealousy, disappointment, despair, once more to simplicity in the evening of life, as faith looks upward and memory wanders backward, lingering not on the great passions of the past, but dwelling contentedly among the sweet unfinished dreams of youth renewed. As Emerson said, "culture ends in a headache." However, while making no apology for preferring "Old Kentucky Home" or "Dixie" to the sublime symphonies of the higher culture, we should not deny to those more fortunate the delights of breathing an atmosphere that is rarefied by an elevation we never can hope to attain. God or Nature, as you prefer, has given us a variety of talents, and that which is our own cannot be taken away, neither can any form or course of culture develop what is not already within, nor substitute something just as good. Talents may be trained, but no school can create them. "Pigs is pigs."
